A NEW ADVENTURE

We left our home in Virginia's ancient Blue Ridge mountains searching for something familiar but different; an opportunity to hone our skills and gain new perspectives. At the end of a gravel road at the base of the Andes mountains, we found the Remolinos Vineyard. A contrast of hemispheres, mountain ranges, and climates, with a familiarity of grape varieties and philosophy. This wine brings home a deeper understanding of our own vineyard and a broader view of the winemaking horizon.

TERROIR & WINEMAKING

Grown high in the Argentine desert, this Petit Verdot has enjoyed dry, sunny days but with nights cooled by crisp Andes air. The result is a wine with bright, ripe fruit that still shows the freshness and restraint that we prize in our Virginia vineyards. The grapes were hand harvested and sorted before undergoing an extended maceration in open-top barrels. After aging for 16 months in a combination of new and old French oak puncheons, the wine was blended and bottled.

Drink now through 2027.
